

Single-source. Customer-first Solutions.

For 70+ years, EMCOR Services Scalise Industries (Scalise) has been building a reputation for performing with excellence and delivering customer-focused, high-quality mechanical, electrical, and fire protection services to both commercial and institutional clients alike. Applying expertise and trade knowledge to every project, it's our mission to continually enhance the value we bring customers.

Scalise offers clients a wide variety of single-source fire alarm and security protection services. Trained technicians design service programs for customers to help ensure facilities are in compliance with NFPA codes, local jurisdictions, and insurance company requirements. Routine inspections, testing, and preventative maintenance are also performed on a full range of fire protection equipment to help ensure equipment runs efficiently.

The Goal: Reduce business interruptions caused by the unexpected breakdowns that often result from improperly maintained equipment.

A single source. For multiple solutions.

Scalise's technicians are trained to maintain a customer's entire system. This eliminates the need for various contractors to support facility requirements. It also helps consolidate billing and allows customers to focus on their core business. Additionally, customers can look to one provider for all their services. We bring ease of use, consistent quality, and much more.
